DeVALERA DEFEATED FOR RE-ELECTION, 60-58

IRELAND RATIFIES THE PEACE TREATY BY VOTE OF 64-57

RATIFICATION ENDS DAY OF BITTER DEBATE—De VALERA RESIGNS OFFICE

IRELAND BECOMES SELF GOVERNING LIKE CANADA, AUSTRALIA AND SOUTH AFRICA

(By United Press)

Dublin, Jan. 9.—A motion to re-elect Eamonn De Valera, president of the Irish republic and head of the Dail government, was defeated in the Irish parliament this afternoon by a vote of 60 to 58. Following the resignation this morning, De Valera stood for election this afternoon on a republican platform. He was nominated by Mrs. Clarke. The Dail refused to accept its former chieftain by the narrow margin of two votes.

Dublin, Jan. 9.—The Dail Eireann Saturday made certain the establishment of the Irish Free State by ratifying the peace treaty with Great Britain by a vote of 64 to 57.

The republic of Ireland died at 9:10 p. m. when the chairman of the dail announced the vote on the treaty. In place of the republic springs up the new Irish Free State.

Eamonn De Valera, president of the Irish republic, who had fought to the last against the treaty, immediately announced his resignation from the presidency of the republic for the second time in two days.

The dail's vote came at the culmination of a bitter political fight which split Sinn Fein into two hostile camps. It was not until the last minute that the battle was won. Up until late in the evening, many friends of the treaty conceded its defeat.

To Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, who turned against their former chief, De Valera, and led the fight for the compact, goes most of the credit for the victory.

News of the vote was received with rejoicing throughout the country.

The dail adjourned until today after cheering De Valera following his resignation.

Erin Celebrates Ratification

Amid the booming of flashlights, the roar of cheers and the ringing of bells, Ireland took the step which made her a free state, on a par with Canada and Australia in the British commonwealth of nations.

Into the big room where the grim battle over the treaty had been waged for many days, the noise of jubilation of the throngs massed in the streets outside came faintly while De Valera the leader of the fight against the treaty, stood haggard and worn, and added defeat by resigning again.

Delegates Yell for Resignation

De Valera, until a few weeks ago, the hero of all Ireland and of all Irishmen throughout the world, beaten in the long, weary campaign against the treaty, stood somberly at his place and heard the Irish parliament members yell for his resignation. He stepped from his high position as president of the republic, for which he had battled and which now seemed dead, and took his new place as the leader of the minority—the "die hards" of the Irish republic.

At that moment his comrades with whom he had labored shoulder to shoulder in the fight for freedom, when the outlook for liberty looked blackest, and who had turned on him at last and voted against him, surged toward him in the historic room and gave him cheer upon cheer. They had helped defeat him on the treaty issue, but they still hailed him as the man who led the Irish forlorn hope in the days when it looked very forlorn, indeed; whose consistent hammering "in freedom's cause" had made possible the creation of the free state.

700 Year Fight Ends.

As the news of the vote spread, Ireland roared its joy at the achievement of freedom after 700 years. Such jubilation had never rung through the streets of Dublin before. Men in the uniform of the Irish republican army, and Black and Tans, who a few months ago were engaged in a bloody and merciless warfare, were swept along in the tide of jubilation. The

FIVE-POWER NAVAL PACT ABOUT READY FINAL APPROVAL

WILL CONSTITUTE MOST FORWARD STEP IN HISTORY TOWARDS DISARMAMENT

ALL QUESTIONS AGREED TO EXCEPT LIMITING AIRCRAFT—SIGNED THIS WEEK

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 9.—The five-power treaty for limiting of naval armament constituting the most forward step in the history of the world toward disarmament, is ready for final approval by the chief delegates in the conference.

The naval experts, after working most of Sunday, finished the task of getting into shape the various previous agreements which have been agreed upon for limiting of naval armaments, it was learned officially.

Now the drafting of the treaty goes to the principal delegates for final approval and then will be proclaimed to the world in a plenary session which is virtually certain to be held this week. While some changes involving questions of higher policy will be made by the plenipotentiaries, it is not expected it will be long before the treaty is to be finally approved.

The principal terms to be embodied in the naval treaty are already fully known in general, since the main agreements among the powers for naval reductions and limitation have been published as they were reached.

The conference today was to decide whether any limitations other than airplane carriers should be impressed on aircraft. The United States may bring forward another sensational proposal akin to the Root resolutions banning poison gas and preventing unrestricted submarine warfare, which would prohibit the bombing of undefended cities by aircraft.

15 Year Holiday

The five great powers are to bind themselves to a program of naval reduction and limitation for 15 years by the terms of the naval limitation treaty. The drafting of the treaty as completed by the naval experts is 15 years instead of 10 years period of the naval holiday, it was said. This is to give the naval holiday sufficient time to be put into practicable effect, it was explained, and to allow the naval establishment of the powers to be put on the replacement tonnage ratio basis which has been agreed upon after the conclusion of the holiday.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 7.—Governor William C. Sproul here today appointed George Whorton Pepper, prominent lawyer of Philadelphia to fill the place in the United States senate caused by the death of Boies Penrose.

The announcement was made from the governor's office at 11 o'clock. It ended nine days of speculation and turmoil in Pennsylvania political circles, following the death of the leader of the Republican State organization.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Senator Porter J. McCumber, of North Dakota, today was formally elected chairman of the senate finance committee, succeeding the late Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania.

McCumber's election will have to be ratified by the senate. This is regarded as virtually certain.

The committee also elected Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, as a member of the finance committee to fill the vacancy caused by Sen. Penrose's death.

UNDERTAKERS SEE BIG PROFITS IN 1926

MOONSHINE DRINKERS ON ROAD TO SLOW DEATH, SAYS OHIO CHEMIST

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Undertakers will have a prosperous year about 1926, in the opinion of analytic and consulting chemists here, because they claim, the Grim Reaper is whetting his scythe for a harvest of prohibition liquor drinkers.

Hundreds of persons are slowly but surely asphyxiating themselves, according to J. M. Kovachy, assistant city chemist, by unsuspectingly assimilating the poisons found in almost every sample of what was believed to be "pure bonded" liquor.

All Contains Fusel Oil

Hundreds of sample are brought to Kovachy each month for analysis, he said, and all thus far analyzed have contained a high percentage of fusel oil in the raw. In large quantities, consumed by steady drinking, fusel oil changes the blood from exyhemoglobin to methemoglobin, he insists.

In other words, Kovachy says, fusel oil removes the oxygen from the blood, causes the lips and body to turn blue and has the same effect as asphyxiation.

"Illicit peddlers of whisky use ethylacetate, for flavoring purposes in some cases, and this is very injurious if taken in any quantity, acting as a heart depressant," the chemist declared.

Analyze Liquor, Is Advice

M. E. Curtis, proprietor of the Chemical Laboratories, advises the present day drinker to "analyze well before using." Traces of adulteration that clip year after year from a life have been found in almost every bottle of alleged "bonded" liquor he has analyzed, he asserted.

"It is true a portion of the contents of most bottles is pure bonded whisky. That gives it the color, flavor and taste," Curtis added. "But the good liquor is mixed with ingredients that are harmful to the human system and the question uppermost in the minds of those who came to me for analysis of their liquor is how to remove the ingredients and leave the bonded stuff."

That "bonded" whisky is being grossly misrepresented by bootleggers was revealed recently when a raid of a printing shop in the downtown section by federal and police officials uncovered a plant which is said to have been devoted exclusively to the manufacture of counterfeit labels and bottled-in-bond revenue stamps.

Fake Labels Are Printed.

The labels were similar to those used by prominent distillers on popular brands of intoxicating liquors previous to the becoming effective of the eighteenth amendment.

Ten thousand alleged counterfeit revenue stamps were confiscated. Federal secret service operative declare that statements made by some of the six persons arrested in connection with the raid indicate that $50,000 had been "cleared" during the past year through sales of the labels to bootleggers in Kansas City, New York, Chicago, Detroit and other cities.

U. S. AMBASSADOR HARVEY IS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

WHILE ATTENDING THE SUPREME COUNCIL MEETING AT CANNES, FRANCE, TODAY

RECEIVES INJURIES THAT WILL KEEP HIM IN BED SEVERAL WEEKS

(By United Press)

Cannes, France, Jan. 9.—American Ambassador George Harvey, was hurled from his automobile in a collision here today and rendered unconscious.

A bulletin issued from the Carleton hotel where Premier Briand's physician and three others attended Harvey, declared the ambassador had received injuries which would keep him in bed for two or three months. His injuries, the bulletin said, were in the dorsal and lumbar regions and were not serious. Harvey was rendered unconscious for more than an hour and it was at first feared his injuries were serious.

Richard Crane, former minister to Czechoslovakia, and Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, were in the accident, which occurred when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a speeding car. The three were driving along beside the Mediterranean bound for a game of golf at the Cannes links. An automobile driven at a terrific rate whirled up behind them and struck the rear of the American ambassador's car. Harvey was thrown out, striking on his forehead. Speed was thrown out, but escaped serious injury.

Ambassador Harvey was rushed back to the hotel and Premier Briand's personal physician, Doctor Châtin, attended him. At first it was believed he was merely suffering from a slight contusion, but when after an hour he failed to respond to restoratives, three more doctors were summoned. Harvey was said to be practically unconscious shortly before noon.

Herick Will Take Place

Washington, Jan. 9.—Myron P. Herick, American ambassador to France, will attend the Cannes conference pending the recovery of Ambassador Harvey from injuries received in an automobile accident, Harvey notified the state department today. He reported his injuries were not serious.

Block Not Guilty of Beheading Daughter

(By United Press)

Winona, Minn., Jan. 9.—Public curiosity was appeased and the police were satisfied today that Thomas Block did not behead the body of his daughter when he opened her grave because of a superstition. Chief of Police Riebau re-opened the grave of Frances Block Sunday to make sure that Block told the truth.

More than a week ago it was discovered that someone had opened the graves of the girl and her brother Joseph. The father was questioned, and said he was impelled to do it by a superstition of neighbors. Since the daughter died five years ago, five sons have died. Driven almost frantic, Block listened to the superstition that deaths would continue in the family unless the daughter's body was beheaded and the head placed at her feet.

Block and a neighbor opened the grave. He maintained he did not touch the body, however. The body was found to be decomposed.

No action will be taken against Block.

LOWER PHONE RATES MAY BE ORDERED SOON

(By United Press.)

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—Lower telephone rates may soon be ordered in Minnesota. The state railroad and warehouse commission has completed the values of the properties of the Tri-State and the Northwestern Telephone companies on which the new rates will be based. The commission valuation figures are said to be much lower than the figures submitted by the companies recently when the rate question came up. Commission engineers have been working on the valuations almost two years.

NEWBERRY DEFENDS SELF IN THE SENATE

SAYS HE WAS NOT CONSCIOUS OF HAVING DONE AN ILLEGAL OR DISHONORABLE ACT

Washington, Jan. 9.—Calling on God to witness his innocence, Truman H. Newberry in the senate today defended himself for the first time against the charges that his seat was "bought and paid for," through the extravagant use of campaign sums.

"As God is my witness," said Newberry, "I am not to this day and hour conscious of having done, in connection with my primary campaign or general election of 1918, a single act which was or is in any way unlawful, dishonorable or corrupt, and this I say to the senate of the United States without reservation or qualification."

As Newberry took the floor today to make the speech that probably will determine whether he is to retain his seat, his democratic and republican foes were ready to attack him with a cross-fire of pointed questions.

COLD SPRINGS DAM NEAR ST. CLOUD IS DYNAMITED SUN.

BLOOD HOUNDS BEING USED TO TRAIL THE PERPETRATORS OF OUTRAGE

AUTHORITIES THINK FARMERS, WHO HAVE FOUGHT THE DAM PROBABLY GUILTY

(By United Press.)

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 9.—After following the trail of the Cold Springs dam dynamiters, 15 miles up the river, the posse with blood hounds was resting this noon. Blood hounds employed, were practically exhausted. An explosion early Sunday morning shattered the windows and damaged the Cold Springs Dam on the Sauk river. The Rockville Granite company plant was slightly damaged.

Authorities believe dynamite charge was set by farmers up stream, who have been fighting the dam project for the last twenty-five years. An explosion less than a year ago causing a $10,000 damage was thought to be caused by settlers.

Farmers have fought in court to abolish the dam, and cases have twice been carried to the supreme court. They allege the water destroys crops, and causes them heavy losses.

Blood hounds arrived here last night, and took up the trail following it fifteen miles up stream to a point near Richmond. The trail was to be resumed about noon.

WAS DEBTOR NATION IN THE PRE-WAR DAYS NOW UNCHALLENGED

HER BANKING CAPITAL INCREASED 85 PER CENT IN LAST SEVEN YEARS

GOLD IN THIS COUNTRY IS $3,000,000,000 OR ONE-THIRD OF THE WORLD'S SUPPLY

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 9.—America is the unchallenged Goliath of the financial world, the annual report of D. R. Chiffinger, comptroller of the currency, made public today. From a heavy debtor nation in 1914, she has emerged the greatest creditor nation in the world's history.

Her banking powers during the intervening seven years has increased nearly 85 per cent, and her $1,200 banks can marshal cash and credits estimated at more than $48,200,000,000. Added to this is more than $11,500,000,000 in the banks of her island possessions, thus giving the United States a banking asset of nearly 50 billion dollars.

These startling government figures clearly show the importance of the United States if it agreed to active participation in the world's economic conference at Genoa next March.

From the pre-war days to the present time, an unprecedented flow of gold has poured into the United States.

Gold in this country totals more than three billion dollars, or approximately one-third of the entire world's supply. Chiffinger credits the federal reserve system with having saved the United States from disaster during the last six years.

Membership Roll of U. S. Grain Growers in Minnesota Reaches 10

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—About one-sixth of one hundred million bushels of grain pledged by the 36,500 members of the United Grain Growers, Inc., will be marketed through agencies to be established in St. Paul or Minneapolis. Northwest headquarters of the company made this announcement today following a meeting of the directors of this section. Other sales headquarters will be established in Indianapolis, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Chicago and Kansas City. Selling machinery will be ready for handling of the 1922 crop, according to J. S. Jones, Minnesota organizer.

The membership roll in Minnesota passed the 1,000 mark last week. The movement was materially assisted by endorsements of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation convention last week.

NAVAL MILITIA TO SEARCH FOR MAHAN

(By United Press.)

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—The state naval militia today was ordered to conduct a search of Thunder Bay for James Mahan, state commissioner at Grand Portage, who has been missing nearly two weeks.

Governor Preus ordered the naval militia to save no expense in its effort to locate Mahan. He authorized the manning of the tug Strathcona and ordered any steps necessary taken to make a complete search for the missing commissioner.

Mahan started from Cloud Bay in an open motor boat to try and navigate the treacherous way to Port Arthur. He has not been heard from since. Governor Preus received a telegram and turned it over to Adjutant General Rhinow, who in turn gave orders to Commander Guy Eaton of the state naval militia, to send boats to search for Mahan.

Donald Mahan, 15 year old son of the missing commissioner, today set out with another party in search for him. A previous search was unsuccessful. The boy had walked 30 miles in bitter weather in an effort to find a trace of his father.

RUTH SLATED

TO PLAY FIRST FOR '22 YANKS

By HENRY L. FARREL, (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Jan. 9.—Babe Ruth is slated to play first base next season for the New York Yanks.

New York will not be surprised to see the Swat King switched from patrol of the sun garden to the door-keeper of the American League champions' infield.

Miller Huggins, manager of the club, has not committed himself officially, but he has let it be known that he has been considering the change for some time.

First base will not be a strange berth to the slugging sultan, as he played the position with the Boston Red Sox. Late in the season last year, the big Bam put in about ten minutes every day on the first corner during fielding practice and he likes the position.

While he was a capable left fielder, the Bam showed a weakness in getting low drives and ground balls. He was too heavy for the position and he maintained that he didn't get enough work chasing flies to keep down his girth.

If Huggins gets Bob Veach from the Detroit Tigers or any other first class gardener, the change is almost sure to come.

With Roger Peckinpaugh gone from the club, Huggins is expected to get more results from Ruth, Meusel and the entire team. This is not meant to infer that Peck was a rebel against his manager or any kind of a disturber, for he is anything but that. However Peck was too popular with the club. The anti-Huggins clan made Peck their adopted leader and persistently campaigned for the removal of the mite manager and the installation of the popular shortstop as their manager.

The issue came to a head during the last western trip of the club last season. Huggins was laid up for two weeks in a hospital and Peck was acting manager. The club went like a house afire and did not lose a game for Peck.

Huggins and Peck did not have the same managerial policy and when Huggins returned to the club, the players claimed that they could win the pennant only by following Peck. The shortstop remained out of the controversy, however, and gave his very best to Huggins, trying at the same time to get the other players behind their manager.

Whether he succeeded or not is unknown, but the fact remains that the club went through to the pennant and Huggins was given a contract for another year.

In trading Bill Piercy to the Red Sox, Huggins also broke up the Ruth-Meusel-Piercy triumvirate that troubled him all season and the combination that finally ran afoul of Commissioner Landis and got set down until May 20.

There are no other managerial candidates of the team now. Ruth has always claimed that he could never see a managerial job until he is through as an active player and most of the other members of the team are youngsters or veterans without the obvious traits of leadership that were apparent all over Peck.

transferred the paper to the National City Bank. When the American was unable to meet its obligations the signers were sued and judgment secured. They now seek to recover their money.

BOON TO HOME DRESSMAKERS

Remnant Counters Offer Attractive Materials for Blouses Featuring Color Combination.

An unusual number of blouses are shown this season that feature a fabric or color combination. This should play right into the hands of the economically inclined woman who does her own sewing or has her clothes made at home or by the neighborhood dressmaker. The remnant counters offer as attractive materials for blouses as they do for children's clothes and hats. With fabric and color combinations approved, it is a very easy matter to find blouse materials among the odds and ends.

Brocades of various sorts combine well with plain silk, chiffon and georgette. Wool fabrics are frequently combined with sheer silks with excellent effect. A very smart blouse is made of rust-colored velours in a fine light weight, combined with chiffon in the same shade. Another smart blouse combined black duvetyne with gray chiffon, the duvetyne forming a peasant bodice, with sleeves of the sheer gray material. A black satin waistcoat blouse had wide bell sleeves of silver gray chiffon. The waistcoat was embroidered in silver thread and fastened with metal buttons in the silver tone.

Personality.

It is personality that makes for our success or our failure among men, and this personality does not come by chance. Tastes and dispositions we may inherit, and natural talents may have been given us, but out of these we are to shape that strange and wonderfully effective tool—personality.

Royalty Asks Favors.

Royalty is not averse to asking favors of great men, and when the prince consort of Holland learned that Sir Charles Macara, the "cotton king," was a friend of Mr. Carnegie, he asked if he would not use his influence with the millionaire toward getting an endowment fund established for the upkeep of the great palace of peace.

FRIENDSHIP ENVOY

Frau Rudolph Hertzog, who speaks eleven languages, will start on a lecture tour of Europe and America seeking to promote better understanding between Germany and the world. She is the wife of a famous German novelist.

BEST WAY TO CLEANSE SILKS

Fabric Should Be Scrubbed With Brush Instead of Rubbing Between Hands or on Board.

The best way to clean pongee, tussah and novelty silks is to wash them in lukewarm water with good soap.

Instead of rubbing between the hands or on a board, material of this sort should be scrubbed with a brush and it will need rinsing in at least three waters.

The greatest danger in handling material of this kind is in using water which is too hot, for very hot water causes heat wrinkles which will not disappear even under the iron.

Oil Stains—Stains made by machine oil or any of the ordinary oils can be removed with carbon tetrachloride.

Oil Paints—A mixture of carbon tetrachloride and chloroform in equal parts will remove oil paint marks.

Nickel—Stains and marks on nickel can be removed by rubbing them with a paste made of whiting and ammonia.

Vivid Colors.

Bright colors and striking color combinations are in high favor for children's apparel. One group of smart frocks for girls of four to ten years recently seen were made of bright red serge and trimmed with black embroidery, heavy white linen collars and cuffs supplying a dainty finishing touch.

The Furs of Fashion.

Black caracul, tan caracul and Persian lamb are used for entire garments as well as for trimming. Kolinsky, sable and fish are also smart when used in trimmings and for the head pieces.

What You Have at Home.

Be still and do not forfeit what you have at home by turning to seek abroad what you will not find.—Fenton.

HOW GIRLS WEAR THEIR HAIR

Head Dresses That Simulate Bobbed Cut Are More in Favor at Present.

Then there are the head dresses which, among the younger set, have taken a very prominent place. The coiffures are simple enough—more often than not being those that have been bobbed and made comfortable in the last degree. But there is usually some sort of extra adornment somewhere about the head, if it is only a slightly-jeweled comb, that is pushed in carelessly to keep the front locks of a Dutch cut in position.

The head dresses that simulate a bobbed cut are even more in the public eye than are those which are actually cut short. Many are the young ladies who prefer to keep the full length of their locks intact, and then to make them look as though they had been clipped off. On these hair arrangements there is usually imposed some sort of decoration if it is only a band of jewels across the forehead.

When the contour of the face can stand the strain, the hair is pulled straight back from the forehead, and then further augmented with little puffs of hair over the ears, for it is this covering of the ears that still seems to be necessary as a matter of strict fashion and good sense. No one leaves a tip of the ear showing, unless it is just enough from which to dangle a length of earring conspicuously necessary to the finish of the costume with which it is worn.

Wreaths of silver and golden leaves are favorite hair adornments for the younger girls. They are neither very heavy nor large, but they are just accented enough to add that extra finish to a simple frock which can be so much the making of its last effect. Bracelets with the short sleeves, and with the entire lack of sleeves, are favorite adornments, and, while they are not over conspicuous in their designs, they are still distinctly brilliant, and a girl wears many of them in different jewels and colorings if the fancy strikes her.

Cracks in Floor.

Make a paste of half a pound of flour, three quarts of water and a half-pound of alum; mix thoroughly and boil; soak newspapers in this paste until the mixture is about as thick as putty and force it into the cracks with case knife. It will harden like papier mache.

MAY BE "BUYERS' STRIKE"

It is confidently predicted that very beneficial results will come from the plan adopted by Attorney General Daugherty, with the cooperation of Director of the Secret Service W. J. Burns, to place before the public the exact facts regarding relative wholesale and retail prices of commodities necessary for the preservation of the life and comfort of the people of the country.

The public will soon be informed, on evidence which can be accepted as dependable, what relationship there is between the prices charged by the wholesaler and those charged by the retailer, so that the margin of profit can be determined, and public opinion will undoubtedly find an effective means of correcting any evils that may exist. Undoubtedly, in some cases there may be just grounds for prosecution, but it is not likely that real relief can be obtained by the limited number of prosecutions which are possible. When gross injustice is being imposed upon consumers by conscienceless retailers or wholesalers there will undoubtedly be a revival of what has been commonly described as a "buyers' strike." And probably a "buyers' strike" may prove more effective than anything else in reducing unjustified prices.

But it will be unfortunate if the country suffers a revival of the "buyers' strike." This is no time for a diminution of business activity. It is no time for a curtailment of consumption. It is no time for a reduction of people employed; and a "buyers' strike" certainly means diminished employment.

There will probably be no cessation of buying, however, unless it shall develop that prices charged are extortionate. Where such facts are developed those retailers who will suffer from cessation of buying will have no one to blame but themselves.

TARIFF ACTION DEMANDED

The National Association of Manufacturers, the members of which believe that immediate passage of a tariff bill is most urgent to relieve the nation's manufacturers of their present anxiety and to bring about a stabilization of world business, will hold a special convention in Washington, Jan. 30 and 31. The manufacturers claim that congressional delay over the tariff is retarding the restoration of business in many lines, which is undoubtedly correct.

It is stated that the fundamental topic of discussion at this convention will be the American valuation plan, around which so much of the fight over the tariff bill now centers. The manufacturers, in urging quick action by Congress, are asking only that the imposition of all ad valorem duties be upon the basis of the American values instead of upon foreign values, as is the practice at present. They are seeking no participation in the making of the tariff schedules or rates, or in the framing of the bill.

The Association will go to Washington with a large majority backing of the manufacturers of the country, as shown in a recent referendum taken throughout the nation and just completed. The vote, which was taken among over 6,000 manufacturers, who employ 3,000,000 persons, shows them to be about 80 per cent in favor of the American valuation plan. This vote represents a total of 2,366,000 employees on the side of American valuation and a total of 621,000 on the side opposed.

ROUND-UP OF VETERANS

A notable service was done by the field force of the Veterans' Bureau in bringing deserving veterans of the World War into touch with the relief agencies established by Congress. The clean-up squads that scoured the country interviewed 148,650 former overseas men, with the result that 78,907 applications have been made for relief, either by way of compensation, vocational training, or insurance. The majority of these men had not kept in touch with what Congress was doing for their welfare, and did not know of the Government aid to which they were entitled. But for the energetic work of the Veterans' Bureau, they would have remained a burden to themselves and their friends, and the Government would have been criticized for not adequately providing for its defenders.

WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Russia told Emma Goldman to "get out." Emma is a woman without a country. Germany permits her to remain in that country but ten days, merely as a foreigner passing through. The United States has permanently banished her. No other nation has come forward with an offer of a home. Emma's slogan was "down with government," but she was out of touch with the times. She should have realized that every foot of land on the earth's surface is under the control of some sort of government, and if they all thought of her as she did of them there would be nothing for her to do but jump off.

There is some difference between the League covenant and the Four-Power treaty. The former is based upon the exercise of force, the latter upon understanding.

GERMANY TAKING OVER MARKETS OF EASTERN EUROPE

By JOHN DE GANDT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Jan. 9.—Germany has started a commercial colonization of Eastern Europe and is on the way to success.

One of the main reasons for such success is the difference between the comparatively high rates of exchange among the group of Anglo-Saxon and Latin states, and the other group of Germanic and Slavic states whose money is very depreciated. This difference is so big that it has created a kind of broad deep gulf that neither one on both sides can cross any more. Frequently the last few days, on the Paris exchange market, the Austrian and Hungarian crown, the Polish mark, the Serbian and the Bulgarian dinar, have not been quoted at all, while the Czecho-Slovak crown was only worth little more than one cent and the Finnish mark one and a half cent, which shows in fact the Western Powers no longer possess means of exchange with those countries.

But Germany has established the transition, launched the necessary bridge between the two banks of the uncrossable stream, and thanks to the fall of her exchange, the German mark has become in the latter countries an easily negotiable money.

This is how Germany is capturing the markets in Eastern Europe where she offers to her old pre-war clients all the goods they need at a fairly high price for them, but which they can still afford to pay. Knowing the perfect organization of the German trade, there is no doubt Germany can within short time draw exclusive profit from most of the states around her, including the Balkans, Poland and Hungary.

Also, in exchange for the manufactured products which she will sell, one must not think Germany will retain the depreciated money of her neighbors. She will employ it on the spot to buy Rumanian wheat, Galician oil, timber and minerals in Poland. And with this raw material, after having put aside, at cheap price, the quantities necessary to the national consumption, she won't meet difficulties to re-export the surplus, being the only power in Eastern Europe that has a merchant marine.

Thus, Germany will be doing arbitrage business accumulating the normal benefit made with the trade of merchandise and the profit resulting from the money traffic.

Owing to the powerful banking organization of Germany, the conclusion is that she may become the ruler of the money market in those countries where she can install the domination of her own money and her trade as well. The day Russia reopens commercial relations with Europe, Germany would establish on Eastern Europe the hegemony that immediately after the war the pangermanist said she must get in the nearest possible future.

It is generally believed here that it is then one more reason for the Allied nations to avoid a German monetary bankruptcy, in order to reinstate the indispensable balance between the winner, who is menaced by his own wealth, and the loser, drawing profit out of his very ruin.

AMUSEMENTS

"FIGHTIN' MAD" IS FAST-ACTION FILM

Shows William Desmond as a Hard Riding Seeker of Romance

"Fightin' Mad," which comes to the Lyceum theatre tonight and Tuesday, is a picture of a red-blooded young American who finds the course of ordinary life rather too prosaic and seeks adventure by becoming a member of the Border Patrol.

Scene from "FIGHTIN' MAD"

In this Metro release for William Desmond Productions, from the original story of H. H. Van Loan, who wrote "The Virgin of Stamboul," and many other screen successes, William Desmond, star of the stage and screen, has another of those thrilling outdoor pictures, filled with love, romance and adventure.

In the character of a hard-riding youth, he shocks the passengers on the overland limited, fights his way to friendship among his comrades in the Border Patrol and then furnishes many thrills in his daring rescue of the girl of the train from a bandit gang.

In the notable cast supporting Desmond are Virginia Brown Faire, as leading lady; Rosemary Theby, who had the leading feminine role in "A Connecticut Yankee"; Doris Pawn, Joseph J. Dowling, William Lawrence, Emmett C. King, Jack Richardson, William J. Dyer, Bert Lindley, George Stanley and Vernon Snively.

"Fightin' Mad" is one of the best Western pictures produced this season.

Neal Hart Star at New Park Tonight and Tomorrow

General Gonzales was puzzled by the motion picture cameras. He later admitted that he thought they were machine guns, and said he was preparing to retreat with his forces back into the hills, when he noticed that the newcomers were "shooting" sunshine instead of bullets.

Gonzales and his officers came down from the hills, effected a truce with the provisional government, a holiday was declared and, according to Director Hurst, all elements of the "revolution" complacently watched the "shooting" of "Kingfisher's Roost" from the sidelines.

When "Kingfisher" was properly shot from every required angle and the picture completed, Director Hurst and General Gonzales had cemented a firm friendship. A token of regard was presented to the General in the form of Hurst's trusty megaphone, which, it is said, was later used with great delight by the factional leader in issuing his orders for the renewal of fighting after the Neal Hart company had left.

"Kingfisher's Roost" is now playing at the New Park theatre.

Wise Men of The West at Odds Over Exchange Problem

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 9.—Foreign exchange, or rather currency depreciation, is playing queer pranks on erudite students of finance and economics in many countries of the world.

The situation with regard to exchange is to say the least confused and many scholars are being left high and dry, not only in the United States, but even in England and in many of the lesser countries where they are not supposed to be so smart on economic subjects.

There are several schools of thought on the subject of currency depreciation as expressed by foreign exchange. First one school and then another has been proven first right and then wrong so often, that the experts, at least those on close view in Washington are becoming "crazy."

First off, Russian, German and Austrian exchange went so low that authority everywhere was convinced that these countries, or at least their financial and economic systems would disappear. But they didn't. German marks particularly found lower and lower levels and the country internally was prosperous.

Then it began to threaten world markets. Experts took another tack. They said that Germany, with marks so cheap, could grab all of the markets of the world.

It was held that Russian rubles and Austrian Kronen would cease to be a medium of exchange. But they haven't.

Discussion has ranged up and down the scale, with first one viewpoint and then another apparently vindicated. Now comes the Department of Commerce with a series of official announcements on trade conditions in many countries. One of them shows that recovery of the exchange value of German marks, ascribed to many causes, including the arms conference and the possibility of a reparations moratorium, has not only brought no improvement in German conditions at home, but had actually caused unrest and disturbance. Marks are still being printed rapidly. Germany's floating debt is consequently increasing. The Commerce Department refrains from giving an ultimate answer.

Along with the official statement of German marks and German trade and conditions, however, came a host of the official statements on depreciation of Turkish currency, caused by unfavorable trade balances and one thing and another, and similar conditions in these countries have been made worse by further depreciation in currency.

Italian trade is reported as improving, though there are many qualifying factors. Economic difficulties in Spain continue. The Peruvian market for American goods is improving. Austrian industry is disorganized by currency inflation.

You can read over all of the announcements and take your pick. They are official. By rough selection you can make out your own case as to whether currency inflation and depreciated foreign exchange is a damning or saving factor to a country in a war-torn world.

ENGLAND, TOO, IS SUFFERING FROM WAR-ARMED LAWS

By LLOYD ALLEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) London, Jan. 9.—"Dora," most hated of war time tyrants may be officially dead, but she has managed to plant many of her offspring in permanent government departments; not the least obnoxious of these being disguised under the harmless-sounding title of "Registrar of Business Names."

During the war, the Defence to the Realm Act insisted on all firms registering the full names of their principals. This was designed to prevent enemy agents operating under English names. But the mere fact that the war is over has not been sufficient to cause the retirements of the energetic officials called into being by "Dora's" magic wand. They still worry that in-offensive person, J. Citizen Bill. Many Englishmen returning from the war foolishly imagined that they could take up their old positions in their former firms, partnerships, etc., without official permission, but they are being disillusioned.

The latest "capture" of the business names registrar is Frederick Stehner, a chimney-sweep, who was haled before the courts for daring to place the words "& Son" after his father's name on taking over the business. Having fought for four years in the war, he did not see the necessity of truckling to officialdom, and refused to register. He pointed out that he and his family has been freemen of the City of London for over 150 years. The magistrate pointing out that a technical offense had been committed, indicted a nominal fine.

A similar farcical prosecution was instituted recently against an old-established firm of lawyers who altered their style of "Wingfield & Son" to "Wingfield and Wingfield." The firm's legal knowledge enabled them to avoid even a nominal penalty by altering the style to "Wingfields."

In the meantime the country is being saddled not only with the salaries of the officials, but the legal costs of their prosecutions. The proceedings against the chimney-sweep cost around fifty pounds, while the Wingfield episode cost double that, the defendants being astute enough to pile up a big bill of costs for their own fraternity.

Speaker and Lord Chancellor. One difference between the speaker of the English house of commons and the lord chancellor, who occupies a similar position in the house of lords, is that while the speaker cannot take part in debates and can vote only when there is a tie, the lord chancellor is entitled to speak and vote on all occasions.

Says Uncle Eben. "A man sometimes makes his best soundin' speech," said Uncle Eben, "when he ain't sure of what he's talkin' about because he feels de necessity of showin' all de emotion possible."

COUNTY TO BE RE-DISTRICTED

Commissioners Adopt Plan No. 3 for the New Districts, Making Them of Distinctive Character

CROSBY-IRONTON ONE DISTRICT

Brainerd to be Diss. No's. 3 and 4; District No. 1 Rural, District No. 2 Part Rural and Mining

The county commissioners have taken formal action in establishing new commissioner districts. The method adopted is known as "Plan No. 3, Exhibit 4," being the designation given in the report submitted by the Chamber of Commerce of Brainerd, which outlined six tentative plans for the consideration of the board.

This is not the plan which was originally submitted to the board by the Crosby Commercial club, says the Crosby Courier, but it is one which was also devised by one of the club's committee and which has the hearty support of the club as being a division of the county in a manner fair to the range and the eastern farming districts, as well as to the balance of the county.

The county will be separated into districts of distinctive character. District No. 1 will be 100 per cent rural. District No. 2 will be largely rural and the balance, 20 per cent, mining. District No. 3 will take in the first, fourth and fifth wards of Brainerd. District No. 4 will include the second and third wards of Brainerd. District No. 5 will be 100 per cent mining and will include Crosby, Ironton, and Cuyuna villages.

STATE HISTORY A RARE VOLUME

William W. Folwell, President Emeritus Minnesota University, Writes for Historical Society

C. D. JOHNSON RECEIVED A COPY

To be in 4 Volumes, First Volume Covers Two Centuries to Origin State in 1857

Col. C. D. Johnson, former state senator and well versed in historical matters of this section, is a member of the State Historical society and a frequent contributor. He has received the first volume of the History of Minnesota as written by William Watts Folwell, President Emeritus of the University of Minnesota. The set will embrace four volumes.

Two hundred copies specially bound, with a portrait of Father Hennepin and autographed by Dr. Folwell, is the first distribution of this history and Col. Johnson has received No. 27 of this edition of 200.

For over 70 years the Minnesota Historical society has been garnering material for the history of the state. As a result Dr. Folwell's industry has produced Volume 1.

The present volume deals with a span of almost two centuries from the coming of the first white men to the origin of Minnesota as a state in 1857.

Through the pages of the opening chapters march the fur traders, explorers and missionaries—French, British and American—with the native Indians in the background.

Then follow the stories of American occupation and settlement, organization and development, political and economical of Minnesota territory, pushing back the Indians, and on to the framing of the constitution of the new state. It is a narrative of absorbing interest.

SWAN SONG OF THE COMMITTEE

House and Social Committee Under Direction of Chairman A. C. Ebert to Give Its Last Supper

MUCH WORK DONE IN 1921

On Election Night of Chamber of Commerce This Committee Puts on Big 50 Cent Meal

On Wednesday evening, January 11, the present house and social committee functioning in 1921 under the direction of Chairman A. C. Ebert will give its swan song and it will be expressed in a perfect poem of edibles served to a turn.

Wednesday night will be an important event in Chamber circles. It will be the occasion of the annual election of officers and following such election comes also the appointments of new committees.

Mr. Ebert and co-workers in their term of office achieved a reputation for doing things. There was no dead timber on his committee. Every man showed up every time he was wanted and the chairman never had to listen to excuses.

Wednesday evening, 6:15 o'clock sharp, the committee will serve the best 50c dinner ever staged in its eventful career. There will be roast beef with brown gravy, mashed Crow Wing county potatoes, celery, cabbage salad, hot Parker house rolls, ice cream, wafers, coffee, cream.

The meat will be prepared by Chef Hewitt of the coffee house. A swan song is a musical farewell, but a high note of satisfaction can be expressed in a wonderful menu just the same as a sonata, and the heart gives a regular chirp of satisfaction as it trips along hand in hand with the stomach and the gastric juices as they give the glad hand to every item in the bill of fare. The metaphors may be mixed, but you just come up to the dinner and see for yourself if it isn't the biggest thing the committee ever put over.

They say Ebert has made such a record with dinners and suppers at the Chamber of Commerce that his wife wants him to take over the Sunday dinners at their home.

GOES EAST TO FARM

Geo. Dinwiddle, Well Known Farmer, Buys a Farm in the Empire State

It is rather unusual for a Minnesota farmer to leave the Gopher state to go east and buy a farm in New York state, but that is what Geo. Dinwiddle, of Nokay township, Crow Wing county, proposes to do. Mr. Dinwiddle, who has been engaged in farming in Nokay township for the past twenty years, sold his farm recently and during a prospecting trip east arranged for the purchase of a farm of 132 acres near Sherbourne, New York. He returned home a few days ago and expects to close the deal at once and leave with his family for the east in about a month.

The family have a wide acquaintance in Brainerd and vicinity, and their many friends, though regretting their departure, join in wishing them happiness and prosperity in their new home.

Miss Maud Dinwiddle, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dinwiddle, is a student at the Brainerd high school.

Interest in Japanese Question Spreading Into New England

(By United Press)

New York, Jan. 9.—"Interest in the Japanese question until recently confined largely to the Pacific Coast, has spread even into New England," said Ray Long, editor-in-chief of the International Magazine Company, in an interview today.

"I base this assertion upon the fact that Peter B. Kyne's book, 'The Pride of Palomar,' which has to do with the Japanese in California, is now rated as the best seller in New England, although books on this question have been of comparatively small interest in the past on the Atlantic seaboard. This direct change in the public interest in the general Japanese subject seems to me to be a very significant fact and to show that the American public as a whole is now giving close attention to the Oriental problem."

"Our records indicate this interest in the Japanese question was aroused even before the Arms Conference at Washington and, of course, it has increased since the Conference has been in session. We were very much surprised to find that the Kyne book was recently reported as the best seller in practically every New England city except New Haven, where the proximity of Yale University influences the situation and where A. S. M. Hutchinson's 'If Winter Comes' was reported at the same time as the best seller."

Peter B. Kyne is a Californian and lived for many years in and about San Francisco, where he gained his first fame with his "Cappy Ricks" stories.

Hailstones Kill Children

(By United Press)

Buenos Aires, (By Mail)—Hailstones so large that they killed four young children during a recent storm in the department of Rivera in Uruguay are described in a telegram from Montevideo published in the local papers. The message states that at the height of the storm the roof of a rancho collapsed and the inmates, a woman and twelve children, ran, panic-stricken, into the fields. By this time the enormous hailstones were falling and the four younger children were beaten to the ground and their skulls were fractured. Other members of the family were also more or less seriously injured.

JAP STATESMAN PRONOUNCED DEAD, IS STILL ALIVE

(By United Press)

Tokio, Jan. 9.—11 a. m.—Although officially pronounced dead, Marquis Okuma still lives.

The former Japanese premier, decorated after the announcement of his death with the highest honors Japan reserves for her deceased heroes, today was reported by his physician to be "verging on death". From time to time his pulse ceases altogether.

During one of the periods when his pulse ceased to beat, members of his family made formal announcement that the premier was dead.

This was done last Friday, but few days later the statesman's heart still beats faintly.

EXPLOSION OF HOME BREW WRECKED ZION'S CITY POLICE STATION

(By United Press.)

Zion City, Ill., Jan. 9.—The whole city of Zion was aroused today by an explosion of home brew which shook the police station and wrecked the upstairs portion of the building.

A large quantity of liquor which had been seized from William Doar, and which Doar had claimed was not intoxicating, caused the blast. Police will now be unable to prosecute Doar as the evidence was destroyed.

FORGOT HIS CAB WAS THERE

Absentmindedness of Sir Herbert Tree Was a Matter of Some Expense During Year.

Maj. Fitzroy Gardner was Sir Herbert Tree's manager for many years, and tells some good yarns about the famous actor, who was often absentminded.

"On one occasion, on leaving a house, not noting that there was a cab waiting, he hailed another and drove off elsewhere, the first driver, who knew his fare, following behind. After the next call he hailed a third cab, and so the actor arrived at his theater leading a little procession of cabs, and all three had to be paid for.

"When riding back to London from a country house near town where he had been spending the week-end, he became impatient, and stopped at a wayside inn, left his horse there, and hired a dog-cart for the rest of the journey. He quite forgot that he had not brought his horse back to the livery stable where it had its home until, several days afterward, it was led up to the stage door of the Haymarket theater, its owner having been recognized by the innkeeper."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

A Wise Chicken.

In a west side school the pupils of the eighth grade were studying about the different Presidents of the United States. They had just finished Jefferson's administration, and Miss D., the teacher, asked:

"President Jefferson was known as what?"

Harry was quick with the answer. "He was known as the Sage of the Age."

Before the teacher could ask another question, a hand shot up and a small boy asked:

"Miss D., what does sage mean?"

Harry was permitted to answer this one, too, and he said:

"Sage means wise."

Whereupon the small boy asked:

"Well, what's a sage hen, Miss D?"

Before she could explain, she was shocked to hear Harry, with disgust in his voice, turn to the small boy and say:

"Why a sage hen is a wise chicken, of course."—Indianapolis News.

A Nuisance.

Charles M. Schwab said at a dinner in Loretto:

"Some men, retiring from business at fifty-five or so, take bungalows at Los Angeles and do nothing but sit on their front porches and listen to their arteries hardening. A bad thing."

"Others join the Atlantic City colony. There they are sure to become cranks, golf cranks, while their wives, frequenting the board walk sales in the Japanese shops, become auction cranks. Rather a nuisance, that."

"I once spent the week end at an Atlantic City cottage where my host and hostess were cranks of this kind. My bedroom adjoined theirs and I got very little rest, for all night long the golf crank husband kept shouting in his sleep, 'Fore!' and instantly his auction crank wife would yell out, 'Four and a half!'"

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO RESTORE COLOR, GLOSS
AND ATTRACTIVENESS

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago, the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.
